BARE CURLEY EXTORT PLOT OF $100,000

The "Black Shamrock," extortioner who tried to get $10,000 from Executive Councillor Daniel H. Coakley, made an attempt to extort $100,000 from former Governor James M. Curley under similar threats of "exposure," Post Office authorities revealed today.

Two letters, written on stationery similar to that of the Coakley notes, couched in very much the same terms, and apparently typed on a similar machine, were received by Curley at his Jamaicaway home, and turned over to Post Office inspectors for action.

The first, according to Chief Postal Inspector John J. Breslin, was a "contact" note, like the first note to Coakley.

The second gave specific directions for Curley to leave $100,000 at the Cambridge end of the West Boston bridge.

The money was to be in small bills, not marked in any way, according to directions. Curley was directed to send the case, wrapped in a bundle, to the trysting place at 5:30 p. m., May 26, federal officials revealed.

Inspector Breslin arranged a "plant" similar to that staged by Boston police in the Coakley case, but the extortioner failed to appear.

Post Office inspectors examined the typewriter seized by Boston police in the office of a suspect in the Coakley case who is under grilling at headquarters, and stated there were "various similarities" shown between samples of typing from the machine and the Curley notes. They would not, however, declare the specimens identical.

George Smith, police department handwriting expert, stated after a microscopic comparison that the machine seized was the one used in writing the Coakley notes.

KEY WITNESSES FLEE PAROLE QUIZ

Important witnesses have fled the state probe of the so-called pardon racket, the Boston Evening American learned today.

Revealing the number of vanished as "three or four," Senator Jarvis Hunt of Attleboro, chairman of the special legislative committee investigating pardons, ordered all future witnesses under protection of police.

First to receive this protection as the committee reconvened today were Johnny Buckley, well known fight manager, appearing for the second time, and Michael Devery of Canton, widely known sportsman.

Devery is owner of a Taunton roadhouse and was said to have been given state hurricane contracts under the recent administration of former Governor Charles F. Hurley.

Others called were Hirsch Swig of Newton, son of the late Simon Swig, Boston banker; Clarence Wallbank, Brookline jeweler, and Willard Stark, Wallbank's partner.

PATRIARCA ON WAY

Meanwhile, Raymond L. Patriarca, Providence gunman whose pardon led to the state-wide investigation, was speeding by plane from Miami to Boston in custody of State Detective Joseph Crescio.

Already on deposit at East Cambridge jail was $10,000 for his immediate release, through arrangement with the court.

Patriarca, newly indicted on a charge of automobile theft, is scheduled to appear before the committee on Monday to tell all events surrounding the pardon he was granted after serving but 84 days of a three to five years sentence for robbery.

Witnesses arriving at the State House today were placed in a room under guard of policemen, to prevent anyone talking to them.

NAMES TO BE SECRET

Senator Hunt also stated that it might become necessary for the committee to withhold the names of certain witnesses or to establish a secret meeting place with them some place else than the State House.

With Patriarca enroute here, the girl he married only last February planned to rejoin her family in Worcester.

She and the ex-convict were wed shortly after he obtained his pardon, going at once on a Florida honeymoon.

The couple were parted when Miami police arrested the 28-year-old Providence man on an indictment pressed in Middlesex County by District Attorney Robert F. Bradford.

After waiving extradition, Patriarca boarded a regular passenger plane in Lieutenant Crescio's custody.

The pair were scheduled to arrive in Boston early tonight.

UNDISTURBED by extortionist note, demanding $10,000, Governor's Councillor Dan Coakley carries on business as usual, and calmly dictates letters to his secretary, Miss Marguerite Potter. A suspect, being questioned by police, denies he wrote threatening letter signed "The Black Shamrock."

WIFE DEFENDS COAKLEY SUSPECT

A young Cambridge wife came loyally to the defense of her 39-year-old salesman husband today while police seized his typewriter and stationery samples in an effort to link him with a $10,000 extortion letter sent Executive Councillor Daniel H. Coakley.

"It's all absurd and fantastic," the wife said in defending her mate, former $1500-a-year WPA executive.

"My husband is the victim of some terrible mistake. He never gave Mr. Coakley even a thought, let alone trying to get money from him.

"It's true we have had hard times lately, but I know my husband would never stoop to such a low deed."

The suspect in the "Black Shamrock" threat note was still under steady grilling at police headquarters when police staged a raid on his Boston office.

TYPING ANALYZED

There they seized envelopes and stationery which they said was similar to that use in the Coakley threat. A copy of the note was struck off on the suspect's typewriter and immediately turned over to analysts to George Smith, police handwriting expert.

At the same time, postal authorities revealed that at least 20 extortion letters have been sent to prominent politicians, all bearing the signature of "The Black Shamrock."

Seizure of the Cambridge salesman suspect came after Councillor Coakley had received the second of two threatening letters.

In accordance with instructions contained in the letter, a messenger boy with a decoy package in his hand was sent to the Dewey Arch at the South Station at 2 p. m. He was told to idle around the area for a time and if no one approached him to make his leisurely way up Summer st., and by a roundabout route back to Headquarters.

Shots Rout 2 in Break, Police Nab 1

Dudley street police today surprised two youths alleged in the act of robbing a Tremont street, Roxbury barber shop and captured one of them after a chase in which two shots were fired.

Patrolman Thomas Coyne, hearing the sound of smashing glass, fired at the youths and was aided by special service officers in a radio car in the capture of one. The other appeared to stagger and was believed wounded, but escaped.

The apprehended youth, 18 years old, was taken to headquarters for questioning.

London Mobilizes Full Police Force As Bombings Grow

LONDON, June 10 (INS)—Leaves of London's entire police force, numbering almost 20,000 men, were stopped today in a desperate drive to ferret out headquarters of the Irish Republican army, blamed for a fresh series of incendiary bombings.

Explosion of three more bombs in mail boxes today led to the special police orders.

Over night 15 persons, most of them postal workers, suffered major injuries in the most widespread wave of bombings since the campaign of terrorism began in England.

Thirty bombs, of the incendiary type employed in past disturbances by the IRA, were placed in mail boxes in four English cities.

Authorities thought the bombers had no demonstrative relationship to the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Washington and New York, but felt the outbreaks resulted from the sentencing of four men to jail at Stirling, Scotland, for conspiring to steal explosives from a coal mine at Falkirk.

IN RUBBER BALLOONS

Incendiary materials were enclosed in rubber balloons, which were placed in envelopes and dropped into the mail boxes. The packages broke into flame when the chemicals ate through the rubber or were pounded in cancellation machines.

Many thousands of letters were destroyed by fires in post-boxes and around cancellation machines.

Police reserves conducted widespread searches for suspected Irish terrorists in London, Manchester, Leicester and Birmingham. In London alone 250 cars were requisitioned by police to assist in the hunt.

FOUR MEN SENTENCED

Twenty mail boxes were set on fire in London. Men sorting mail on the Birmingham-London express train threw a flaming mail bag on to the tracks.

Sentences ranging from 18 months to seven years were meted out to four Irishmen at Stirling. One defendant, Terrence McSherry, told the court that the British government was responsible for the wave of bombings, due to the continued presence of British troops in northern Ireland.

BRITONS RULE N. Y. MILLIONS FOR DAY

NEW YORK, June 10—King George and Queen Elizabeth came in triumph to the melting pot today and found the city of New York transformed into a citadel of warmth and royal welcome.

RELAXATION—American informality seems to be "catching"—and, in proof of it, here's King George of England in a distinctly relaxed pose, enjoying a smoke as he chats with President Roosevelt, just after visiting Washington's tomb at Mt. Vernon, Va. No London cameraman would ...ture to snap such a close-up of His Royal Majesty.

The warmth was from the sky as well as the heart. For the mercury hovered near the 90-mark as Britain's Monarch and his gracious Queen stepped from the destroyer Warrington at the Battery to enjoy the triumph and endure the torture of a long drive through the steaming city to the New York World's Fair.

They had come across the bay from Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook to the accompaniment of a deafening welcome from harbor guns and harbor craft, to set foot on the soil of New York for the first time at the spit of land that thrusts Manhattan Island into the sea.

RECAPTURES NEW YORK FOR A DAY

At the Battery, while countless thousands of New Yorkers sweltered in the heat of a sticky summer day, given little respite by disappearance of the broiling sun behind a cloudy haze, the Monarchs were greeted by a distinguished welcoming committee, headed by Governor Herbert H. Lehman and Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia.

It was at 11:15 a. m. (E. D. T.) that King George walked down the gangplank from the Warrington and recaptured, for a day, the city that was taken by the English from the Dutch back in 1664 and named in honor of the Duke of York, the Sovereign's own title before he ascended the throne.

The 20-mile sail across the harbor was a maritime triumph for the Monarchs and a spectacle without a parallel. The scene at New York's southernmost tip was impressive as well, with flags flying and bands blaring and the city's great and near great out in full force with top-hats and tails much in evidence despite the heat.

From th Battery on up the west side crosstown and out across the East river to where the World's Fair lies on what once was Fallow Flushing meadows, was an almost solid phalank of humanity—perhaps 3,000,000 strong.

THEY ALL SHAKE HANDS

First came the presentation of their Majesties to dignified Governor Lehman and perspiring Mayor LaGuardia who with their wives were at the Battery to shake hands and extend the welcome of state and city alike to the first reigning monarchs ever to visit to New York.

"God Save the King" and "The Star Spangled Banner" rang out over the cheers of the assembled throng as the greeting took place. King George in morning clothes and his Queen in a pastel blue ensemble surveyed with keen interest the city that sprawled in welcome before them.

The ceremony at the battery was brief. After a few moments, the Royal party an dtheir official escorts entered automobiles for the long drive through the city to the Fair, up the west side highway and through streets carefully guarded and a Central Park turned into a bower of children for the visiting Royalties.

All told there may have been as many as 100,000 persons gathered at the Battery and nearby to roar a welcome to the King and Queen. As they reached the newly painted and gaily decorated pier, their Majesties were almost knocked off their feet by the tremendous burst of cheering that rose from countless throats.

SEA OF CARPETS

The send-off at the battery was merrily the first chord in a symmerey the first chord in a symphony of welcome played by the city's millions the length of the way. From the Battery, the royal procession, moving at about 25 miles an hour, motored to West street and then to Duane street, thence up the west side express highway.

From the few tall buildings passed in West and Duane there came a shower of ticker-tape, a slight taste of the paper whirlwind that would have greeted them had not precautionary necessities ruled out a Broadway welcome.

Three hours before the King and Queen were to disembark from the Warrington at the Battery, police and city officials laid out a brilliant red, 300-foot carpet over which Their Majesties were to walk to be greeted by Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and others.

So carefully had plans been made for carpets for the royal visitors that it appeared unlikely they would ever set foot on New York's pavements.

It was a cosmopolitan crowd that gathered at the Battery, a good-

Farm Girl, Tired of Working Like a Man, Sets Barn Afire

POME, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—A 13-year-old farm girl revealed, Police Captain Patrick J. Smith declared today, that she set fire to her father's barn because she "was tired dressing as a man and working on the farm."

Captain Smith said the girl was Rose Simon, daughter of John Simon, whose barn and cattle were destroyed in a fire last night.

The police captain said the girl made a statement saying that she had not been allowed to go to a moving picture show in 10 years, had been dressed as a man, her hair cut in man fashion, and that she had done a man's work on the home farm since she was taken from the seventh grade of a Rome public school.

The girl's self-described humdrum schedule—seven days a week—began at 5:30 a. m., when she donned overalls, tucked her boyish-combed hair under a baseball cap and set out for the barn to milk the cows.

Then, she claimed, came the task of feeding the chickens, pigs and horses, cleaning out the farm buildings and toiling in the fields—even plowing—under a scorching sun that has darkened her skin. The working day's end at 9 p. m. usually found her ready for her only entertainment the radio—"until I fell asleep."

FRUITLAND, Md., June 10 (AP)—The water ran out, so volunteer firemen used brine from pickle vats early today to check a $25,000 fire which destroyed the Long Lumber Company mill here.

MAXINE ELLIOTT DYING IN FRANCE

MAXINE ELLIOTT

A sister, Lady Forbes Robertson, flew from London to be at her bedside.

Maxine Elliott, famous for her characterization of Kate Malcolm in "Sister Mary" back in the days of gas torch footlights and later an outstanding Shakespearean actress, was born in Rockland, Me., February 5, 1871.

One of the most versatile and best loved of all American stage personalities, Miss Elliott's first appearance as an actress was in Palmer's Theatre, in New York, in 1890 in a piece called "The Middleman," in which she played Fédéria Umfreville.

Her career spanned through the nineties to modern films, appearing in Hollywood productions in 1916-1917. Her most recent plays were in her own theater in New York. She was last seen in 1929 as Cordelia in "Trimmed in Scarlet." Her husband was the late Nat C. Goodwin, also a noted actor, who died January 31, 1919.

$40 PENSIONS SEEN

WASHINGTON, June 10 (INS) — The way for $40-a-month pensions for needy aged was paved today when the House approved provisions in the Social Security revision bill which raised the maximum federal contribution to states from $15 to $20 a month for each pensioner.

Republicans aided Democratic administration followers in beating down a series of amendments proposed by a coalition to change the 50-50 contributory bases and assured passage of the bill virtually intact tomorrow.

The proposal to increase the federal contribution was written into the bill last week before the House defeated the Townsend old age pension plan. It was attacked by Southern and New Deal Democrats as a "hoax."

DOCTORS FIGHT FOR LIFE OF B. U. GIRL WHO FLUNKED

Doctors at City Hospital battled with oxygen today to save the life of Miss Eleanor Goodspeed, 22, of Wilton, Me., found unconscious in her gas-filled apartment on Hemenway street, Back Bay.

The pretty girl, Boston University graduate student, was notified a week ago that she had "flunked out" in her courses for a master's degree.

Fully clothed the girl was discovered in the gas-filled apartment by the building superintendent, John MacDonald, who had smelled the fumes while making his rounds during the morning. Gas was flowing from three open jets in the kitchenette gas stove.

Swift action by three police officers who responded to MacDonald's call for aid and applied first aid resuscitation methods was responsible for saving the girl's life, physicians at City Hospital said.

She had lived at Fox Hall, Jt. Vernon st., Beacon Hill, one of the college dormitories until a week ago, it was learned. Informed by it she had failed to receive sufficient credits to complete her courses leading to a master of arts degree, she quit the dormitory last Saturday and hired the one-room kitchenette and bath apartment.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Goodspeed of Wilton, Me., the girl received a bachelor of arts degree from Radcliffe last June. At Radcliffe she was a member of the American Students Union for two years.

Tiny Kacedan Baby Dies

Little Diana Kacedan, 3½ weeks old, was dead at City Hospital today, victim of what police believe was a temporary surge of insane grief of her mother, Mrs. Anna Kacedan.

The shooting took place at the Kacedan home, Houghton st., Dorchester.

Police announced that they would continue to hold the same charge of assault with a dangerous weapon against the heart-broken mother, who was removed to the Psychopathic Hospital for observation.

Ex-Star Owen Moore Dies 'Forgotten Man'

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 10 (AP)—The once magic name of Owen Moore was added today to Hollywood's list of film greats whose lives ended tragically.

The list includes such stars as Wallace Reid, Rudolph Valentino, Mabel Normand and Roscoe Arbuckle, whom Moore, 52, first husband of Mary Pickford, counted as friends.

He apparently had been dead two days when his wife, actress Kathryn Perry, yesterday found his body, fully clothed, sprawled across a bed in their home.

Owen Moore

An autopsy was ordered to fix officially the cause of death, but his wife, who had stood by him for 18 years, told sorrowfully of his heavy drinking and said:

"The hopeless belief that he was 'all through' was too much for him."

The suave, dark-haired Irishman began his screen career in 1910, the year Mary Pickford became known as America's sweetheart. The next year he married her.

Star of many pictures, he and his brother-actors, Matt and Tom, were amassing fortunes. Then something happened to his romance with Miss Pickford. She divorced him in 1920 to marry Douglas Fairbanks. A year later Owen married Miss Perry.

A time came when he could no longer play juveniles. He tried character roles, then bit parts. His last was in Mae West's "She Done Him Wrong" in 1933.

His wife, now working as a movie extra, said he had threatened to kill her and had slashed his wrists with a knife. He was held sane at a hearing.

SUDBURY ST. GIRL HELD UP

Miss Betty Lightman, pretty 20-year-old bookkeeper for Grosser Bros., mop manufacturers, was held up and robbed of $123 today almost at the door of the firm's offices on the third floor of a Sudbury street building.

The girl was returning from a bank on Milk street, she told police, when a stocky young man, apparently about 21 years old, took the money from her at the point of an automatic pistol. He fled down the corridor, she reported.

Bomb in Truck Kills Youth

MOORHEAD, Minn., June 10 (AP)—Milton Lee, 28, son of a bakery company operator, was instantly killed early today when a dynamite bomb believed by police to have been planted in a bakery truck exploded. The explosion mangled his body, tearing one leg from the torso.

His father, John S. Lee, whose plant was picketed in a labor dispute last year, said he had refused the demand of the unidentified caller for immediate negotiations with a union.

Gold Star Mothers' '40 Convention Here

Boston was chosen for the 1940 convention of the Gold Star Mothers by decision of delegates at the annual convention at Portland, Ore., dispatches revealed today.

A New Bedford woman, Mrs. G. Walter Williams, was chosen president for the coming year. Others elected were: Mrs. Emma L. Balcom, Bronx, N. Y., second vice-president; Mrs. Edith Harvey, Hanover, Penn., recording secretary; Mrs. Josephine Talks, Washington, D. C., treasurer; Mrs. Daniel Rowenkrans, Rochester, N. Y., chaplain.

3 Held in Alky Raid On West Newton Hill

Federal agents and Newton police invaded the exclusive West Newton Hill section today, seizing 162 gallons of alcohol and arresting three men. Federal men revealed they had hired an old mansion to spy on the alleged plant.

The trio, all charged with evading the federal alcohol tax, were Lawrence F. Van Tassel, 26, and a father and son, Donato Tucci, 52, and James Tucci, 22, all of Chestnut street.

GIRL KIDNAPER, WANTED TO PAY MA'S MORTGAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10 (AP)—Police sought a possible male accomplice today of an upstate New York farm girl who gambled and lost in her quest for easy money by seizing five-year-old Krehe Osborn and holding him for $1600 ransom.

Though the girl, Margaret Polly Weil, denied she had any help in her amateurish plan, police continued to make a close check of her associates. Police said they were not satisfied with her explanation.

Miss Weil disappeared with the Osborn boy Wednesday afternoon. Twenty-seven hours later she was arrested in a San Jose hotel, 50 miles from here, with the child in her possession, unharmed.

The thin veil of mystery which hid her identity was lifted yesterday when the pretty 18-year-old girl finally revealed her true name after giving two aliases. A check with the girl's mother, Mrs. Graham Weil, Nassau, N. Y., confirmed the identity.

She said she demanded the ransom "to pay the mortgage on my mother's farm," but police said she had sent no money home since she left there last December to look for a job.

In that interval, officers said, Miss Weil admitted robbing the homes of two employers in Chicago and Hollywood of clothing and jewels valued at $4000 while working as a maid.

In an interview the girl revealed what might have been her true motive. Failing to get a remunerative job, she said she decided the wise thing to do was go back home.

"But I couldn't go back home broke, like a beaten dog," she explained. "I wanted to go back in style, with money, as I had visioned myself doing, and to accomplish that I kidnapped little Krehe Osborn."

Instead, she is held in $50,000 cash bail, charged with kidnaping for ransom with possibility of life imprisonment. Her preliminary hearing was set for June 19 yesterday while authorities investigated her case further.

NYMAN CHILDREN GO TO GRANDMA

Like it or not—and they didn't seem to like it—the small son and two wee daughters of Mrs. Irene Terrio of Revere are separated from her today by order of the court.

Judge Arthur E. Beane removed her from custody at the request of their father, Dr. Daniel E. Nyman of Arlington.

Nyman told the court he'd rather have them in charge of the Children's Aid Society than with their mother.

Mrs. Terrio, a statuesque artists model, wept when she pleaded for her natural right to have her babies with her, and the children wept in sympathy.

Judge Beane, after talking with the three little ones for more than an hour in his lobby, compromised by giving the youngsters into custody of their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Annie Muller of Vista road, Malden.

It was one of the most unusual custody cases ever heard in the court.

The father and mother of the children, divorced and both remarried, battled over the custody question while Mrs. Muller, and her husband, vehemently opposed granting Mrs. Terrio, their own daughter, custody of her own children.

The case came into court on petition of Mrs. Sheila Jacobs of Revere, who had been given their custody at the time Dr. Nyman was given a divorce in 1936. She asked that she be relieved of them because of her recent marriage.

PART—Pretty Mrs. Irene Terrio of Revere says goodby to son, Daniel, 11, and daughter, Dorothy, 8, after losing custody of them and third child in court fight. Youngsters go to live with grandmother. She's Mrs. Annie Mullen of Malden.

Jersey, Ex-British Colony, Hails King

RED BANK, N. J., June 10 (AP)—In a typically-American small town setting, New Jersey saluted England's King and Queen today in this one-time colony of the British crown.

Leaving their royal blue and silver train at the little flag-draped frame station in the town center at 9:03 a. m., George VI and Queen Elizabeth received friendly handclasps, official greetings and the cheers of massed thousands.

As they stood on the red-brick platform, out of sight of most of the spectators the British sovereigns were welcomed by Mayor Charles R. English on behalf of the town's 12,000 population and by Governor A. Harry Moore on behalf of the State of 4,000,000 which grew from territory deeded in 1664 to James, Duke of York—also the title of George VI before his ascension to the throne.

The governor then presented King George with a copy of a morocco-bound scroll resolution of welcome adopted by the legislature on Monday night.

The King responded to the welcomes, but only those very near him caught his words. Mrs. Moore presented the Queen with 25 orchids, named by their grower the "Queen Elizabeth," and Mrs. English presented a bouquet of delphinium.

An army band struck up "God Save the King." The King faced suddenly about and swung to attention. When the last sounds died away, he walked up the platform to inspect the picked troops from Fort Hancock under command of Captain F. J. Woods of the 52nd Coast Artillery.

Then the King and Queen, Governor and Mrs. Moore and the royal party entered 25 waiting automobiles for a half hour auto ride over the countryside through fashionable and shady Rumson with its blooming honeysuckle hedges to Fort Hancock on Sandy Hook where they boarded the U. S. S. destroyer leader Warrington to cross New York bay to New York.

As the motorcade moved past Rumson's rich estates, society women stood with their gardeners at the roadside to catch a glimpse of the monarchs.

King Gets Keys to N. Y. Back After 150 Years

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—About 156 years ago Sir Guy Carleton, the last representative of the British crown to command in this city, gave up his keys and set sail for England.

King George and Queen Elizabeth get them back today—the figurative keys to the city.

Roosevelts Spruce Up Hyde Park for King

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 10 (INS)—F. D. Roosevelt, squire of Hyde Park, made the old family manse ready today to entertain royalty.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt and three of their sons and daughters-in-law arrived at Hyde Park shortly after breakfast time following an uneventful run up from Washington.

This evening, Their Majesties, George VI and Elizabeth of England, will rejoin the Roosevelt family for a week-end of rest on the Hudson after their strenuous goodwill tour.

A battalion of troops had been brought up from West Point to assist the secret service and state police in guarding the royal visitors during their stay at the expansive family estate.

The nearby county seat of Poughkeepsie, where the temporary executive offices are located, was gaily festooned not only with British and American flags but with many yards of other bunting proclaiming that a week from today is the Poughkeepsie regatta.

The 71st Infantry, New York city's chief National Guard regiment, arrived in Poughkeepsie this morning to aid in handling the crowds.

President Roosevelt regarded the weather with satisfaction. The terrific heat wave apparently had been broken and Hyde Park was considerably cooler than the 96-degree heat which King George and his Queen had to brave in Washington.

HOT DOGS 'FORMAL' FOR KING

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—If the word "picnic" conjures a picture of rough sports clothes and a sizzling hot dog at the end of an iron fork, it will not work out that way tomorrow at the picnic for King George VI and Queen Elizabeth at President Roosevelt's estate.

Mrs. Frank Wilson, wife of the rector of St. James's Episcopal Church, where the King and Queen will worship prior to the picnic, said today the royal munching of "red hots" would be "considerably more formal."

Mrs. Wilson, one of two village women invited to the al fresco affair, said afternoon dresses would be in order rather than knockabout "country club" garb.

Invitations to the picnic consist of four formal cards, the largest 5⅝ inches by 4¾ inches bearing the gold seal of the President of the United States, with script letters reading:

"The President and Mrs. Roosevelt Request the Pleasure of the Company of (Guest's name written in)
At a Picnic Luncheon
Sunday, June the Eleventh
Hyde Park."

Another card says cars will meet at the house at 12:45 o'clock and proceed to the picnic grounds.

The third card says guests will be presented to the President, Mrs. Roosevelt and Their Majesties, and "are then requested to take seats under the trees where luncheon will be served to them."

The fourth card is the "joker"—luncheon inside, in case of rain.

Voice of Sea Shrills Welcome to King

NEW YORK HARBOR, June 10 (INS)—A spectacle that lies far beyond the scope of any other city in the world was staged for King George and Queen Elizabeth today as they steamed across the tidal reaches of New York bay from Fort Hancock, N. J., to the Battery.

From vantage points in comfortable wicker chairs on the foredeck of the sleek new United States cruiser Warrington, the visiting monarch sat soothed by the cool harbor breeze and watched the greatest harbor of all the earth put on a pageant of welcome for their benefit.

A blast from the Warrington's whistle as she backed away from the government pier at Fort Hancock and headed out into the channel was the signal for the one demonstration that New York can stage, alone of all the cities in the world.

VOICE OF THE SEA

Over the length and breadth of the far-flung harbor were scattered countless scores of boats of every description, and each that had steam, or oil to power it gave throaty voice to the welcome. The whistles and sirens were tied down and on the harbor breeze came borne to Their Majesties' ears the true voice of New York—the city of the sea.

It must have been an inspiring experience for the visiting sovereigns—to see and hear the floating population of New York's great port, bobbing with the tide against the backdrop of an incomparable skyline, present for them a storybook welcome.

Riding the harbor swells this morning were countless tugs and launches, the dingy red and blunt-nosed ferryboats of Staten Island and New Jersey commuters, a good few sharp-prowed and sleek white yachts of the rich and leisurely excursion craft in droves, put-put power boats, garbage scows, cockleshells with outboard motors and even sailing canoes.

At their berths were great transatlantic craft such as the Vulcania, The Columbus and the Georgis of His Majesty's own merchant fleet. Those that had whistles tied the lanyards down, and those that didn't relied upon their crews to yell themselves hoarse in substitution.

FAIRYLAND AFLOAT

But most picturesque of all was a brand new fireboat which steamed out into the harbor, there to put on a display straight from fairyland. In the rays of a sun that ducked in and out of a cloud-flecked sky, the fireboat shot aloft great streams of water.

The pageant reached its climax short'y before 11 a. m. when the Warrington, proceeding slowly beneath the overcast sky, passed the Statue of Liberty, symbol of America's liberation from the yoke of the Old World. Fort Jay roared a deafening 21-gun salute to the monarchs and the scream of whistles and sirens reached full diapason.

Thus the Warrington, with its escort of 23 coast guard cutters and airplanes steamed through the Narrows, past Governor's Island and to the dock at the Battery.

N. Y. BEDLAM HAILS ROYALTY

To those who tried to get through the tight police lines, the stock answer of the officers was:

"We wouldn't leave the King himself through here."

POLICE SHINED UP

People without passes were kept 200 yards or more from the dock. Many argued they had forgotten their passes, but to no avail.

Everywhere was bunting — Old Glory and the Union Jack.

The big red carpet laid for the King and Queen was twice painstakingly swept by workmen. A big open limousine, equipped with bullet-proof glass, was drawn up for Their Majesties. Over the back seat—to keep it from getting too warm under the intense morning sun—was spread a shawl.

The police, on foot and mounted, were groomed until they glistened, from peaked caps to white gloves.

In the harbor, over which there lay a light haze, coast guard craft moved back and forth on patrol. Here and there, the deep whistle of a moving vessel lifted an experimental toot.

Hawkers sold novelties to the crowds — British and American flags and buttons showing a picture of the King and Queen with Uncle Sam holding their hands.

There appeared to be more women among the early arrivals than men.

Three boats waited at the Battery sea wall to carry several thousand members of the British colony down the bay to greet the visitors.

Pier A, the Whitehall Building, the Aquarium, the Department of Docks and other lower water-front buildings were decked with flags.

Standing beside the royal visitors' automobile was Chief Petty Officer J. B. Lawrie of the Coast Guard, carrying a furled red and yellow pennant, known as the "Roger."

As soon as the Warrington was sighted, Lawrie unfurled the pennon as a signal for the Coast Guard cutter Campbell to fire its 21-gun salute.

A small row of seats to the left of the press stand, reserved for distinguished guests and wives of officials, began to fill up an hour and a half before the scheduled arrival.

Just before 10 a. m. the city fire boat, Firefighter, her brass nozzles agleam, pulled out from Battery Park to meet the Warrington.

Aloft lazed several blimps and half a dozen airplanes. In the bay a dozen pleasure craft put out to meet the Warrington. The Staten Island ferryboats were crowded with those who hoped to see the royal vessel as it pulled into the pier.

"DEMOCRATIC FLAGS"

Some tenement houses presented a curiously mixed picture: They displayed at once the Union Jack and old bed clothing, out for the morning's sunning.

On East river drive, a section of the royal route far uptown, were many baby carriages, pulled up alongside the camp chairs and boxes so generally in use.

At the Express highway ramp at 23rd street, on the route uptown, a crowd estimated by the police at 30,000—many of them from New Jersey—had gathered at 9 a. m.

Meanwhile, down at the Battery, Mayor LaGuardia, short, stout and beaming got a hand as he arrived, swinging an unaccustomed high silk hat.

WELCOMED BY BEDLAM

The combined fire and police department bands played "The Governor's March" as Gov. Lehman arrived at 10:55 a. m. He paused to chat with Mayor LaGuardia.

As the Warrington pulled alongside the Statue of Liberty, the haze lifted, leaving the symbol of freedom and democracy in bold relief.

Sailors in summer whites lined the Warrington's rails. The Queen was on the starboard side of the bridge, waving her handkerchief. The King was standing beside her, addressing remarks from time to time to a naval officer at his other side.

A 21-gun salute boomed from Governor's Island as the Warrington rode up the harbor.

While a fireboat sent plumes of water hundreds of feet into the air, whistles on bay craft began screeching a welcome. To radio listeners the welcome sounded like a bedlam.

Airplanes scared overhead.

SIMMONS EXERCISES OPENED

Commencement period at Simmons College began today with the annual meeting of the Alumni Association—to conclude with awarding of degrees Monday.

Following the alumni meeting, a faculty-alumni tea will be held this afternoon in Evans Hall, with class day exercises at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the dormitory campus. The class day dance will be held tonight at Belmont Springs Country Club.

The Rev. Samuel M. Lindsay will preach the baccalaureate tomorrow in the college auditorium. A reception by President Bancroft Beatley will be given seniors and alumnae tomorrow afternoon.

President Leonard Carmichael of Tufts College will be the speaker at commencement Monday morning in Symphony Hall.

B. U. Law School

The 1939 class of Boston University law school gathered for class day exercises today in the school's halls in Ashburton place, with Federal Judge Hugh D. McLellan as speaker.

Several awards will be made to leading students. Student Council certificates, the Dr. John Ordronaux prize for scholarship, Woolsack keys and law review certificates and keys will be presented. Class day orators will be Joseph J. Fauliso of Westerly, R. I., who will talk on "Let Us Be Faithful," and Louis B. Cappuccio, Westerly, R. I., on "The March of the Leaders of Tomorrow."

Babson Institute

Long-standing and indiscriminate criticism of business is now reacting in its favor.

Such was the declaration today of Dr. Harold Stonier, executive secretary of the American Bankers Association, in addressing 59 graduates of Babson Institute in Wellesley.

"Too much criticism of business has placed it in the position of the under dog in the public mind," Dr. Stonier declared. "Business today is in a much more favorable light. On the other hand, people are beginning to worry about their government and have ceased to condemn business."

Roger W. Babson, founder of the institute, awarded diplomas in business administration to the graduates.

Wentworth

Certificates were today awarded to 242 students of Wentworth Institute, bringing to a close commencement exercises for the class of 1939.

Paul Barron Watson, treasurer of the Institute presented the diplomas, following an address by the Rev. Richard T. Broeg of the First Methodist Church, Arlington.

The address to the graduates on behalf of the 1939 class was given by Winston B. Plummer.

Emerson

Emerson College of Oratory opened its 80th commencement exercises today with an Alumni Day observance.

Old grads will hold a meeting and then lunch at the Hotel Vendome. Tonight they will be entertained by the commencement play, "The Liars."

Baccalaureate services will be South Church. Dr. Russell Henry Stafford will deliver an address. The afternoon program includes a recital-tea at the Hotel Vendome.

Andover

ANDOVER, June 10—More than 200 members of the graduating class of Phillips Andover Academy will receive their diplomas next Friday afternoon in the school chapel.

Ask Roosevelt's Aid For 'Citizens' Day'

A request to President Roosevelt asking that he write the citizenship oath to which young citizens will subscribe to at the patriotic rally to be held at the foot of Bunker Hill monument, Charlestown, climaxing the annual Bunker Hill Day parade, June 17, will be made by Congressman Thomas A. Flaherty, of that district, it was announced today.

REP. THOMAS A. FLAHERTY
Makes Plea to President

DAVID M. CLEARY
Backs Youth Drive

The Bunker Hill observance has been dedicated this year to young men and women of Boston, who by having attained their maturity during the past year, are now free to exercise all rights of citizenship.

Through the co-operation of the Charlestown Post No. 544 of Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Bunker Hill Day Celebration Committee, the youth of America will be honored.

VETS' GROUPS AID

National, state, city and fraternal organizations have offered their full-hearted co-operation and support to make the day a historic one.

Congressman Flaherty wired those in charge of the "Young Citizens" program that he was willing to do his share in making the affair a patriotic one. He added that he would confer with Marvin McIntyre, presidential secretary, and request the chief executive compose an oath to which those young citizens attending the Charlestown celebration could subscribe to.

David Cleary, director of the 40th national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to be held in this city next August and who was appointed active chairman of the monument exercises stated that at least 5000 youthful citizens would attend.

LODGE TO SPEAK

United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge has notified Chairman Cleary that he was "only too glad to have the opportunity to speak at this patriotic event."

The senator also assured the committee that he would do his utmost in the United States Senate to have that body adopt legislation which would set aside one day in the year for the observance of Young Citizens' Day.

Chief Marshal Daniel J. Coughlin announced that more than 11,000 would march in the parade and that the sixth division would be reserved for Young Citizens.

Claims Allowed Against 'Mutual'

A total of $758,776 in claims against the defunct Commonwealth Mutual Liability Insurance Company was provided today in an order allowed by Judge Arthur W. Dolan of the Supreme Judicial Court.

Henry P. Fielding, receiver for the concern, stated the dividend represented 25 per cent of claims. Another and smaller dividend will be ready for distribution within the next four months, Fielding announced.

1200 School Pupils On Provincetown Sail

More than 1200 students from 16 schools thronged the Steel Pier today for the 166-mile sail to Provincetown and back.

Dancing, deck games and harbor lectures were scheduled for the all-day sail. Music was furnished by a 40-piece band from Franklin High School.

Hitler Drafting Bid For World Peace?

By the Associated Press

Reports in Paris from usually well informed sources in Berlin said today that Reichsfuehrer Hitler was shaping a plan for international action to wipe out the causes for world war fears.

The report came as the Italian press advised Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, to back up his assertion Thursday that Britain was ready to discuss the claims of nations demanding vital economic "living space."

In Berlin, however, sources close to the Fuehrer said the report in French diplomatic circles came "as a surprise to us" and declared that as far as they knew he had no such plan in mind.

HALIFAX'S SPEECH

Hitler was said in Paris to be planning specific propositions to France, Britain and the United States, but there was no hint of their nature although some diplomats expressed belief that Lord Halifax' speech might have been the key to the Reichsfuehrer's reported decision.

In London, government officials' emphasis on Britain's willingness to seek a peaceful settlement of any claims by Germany and Italy was described in authoritative circles as an effort to prove the falsity of German "encirclement" charges against London and Paris.

CZECH SITUATION TENSE

In Prague, meanwhile Nazis in Bohemia-Moravia threatened new "restrictive measures" to break Czech resistance to Nazi domination unless the mysterious killing of a German police sergeant at Kladno Thursday is solved by 3 p. m.

The Kladno Czech community, already fined 500,000 crowns ($20,000), placed under virtual marital law and governed by Nazis replacing ousted civic authorities, feared the new measures might curb the freedom of speech with which many have complained of German domination in the protectorate.

BULLETIN

LONDON, June 10 (INS)—The Manchester Guardian today reported that a Czechoslovakian nurse has confessed to being responsible for the shooting in Kladno of Nazi Police Sergeant William Kniesi.

Barnet Freed In Slaying Case

George E. Barnet, 38, of Harvard avenue, Allston, was at liberty today, having been found not guilty of the Roxbury cafe murder of Joseph B. Gallagher by a jury in Suffolk superior court.

As he heard the verdict, the defendant took occasion to compliment Attorney Timothy D. Sullivan on his conduct of the case.

Barnet was tried on two counts, first degree murder, and carrying a revolver without a permit.

Barnet must still face a federal court on a charge of being in the country illegally. Barnet was deported to his native Canada after serving a sentence in State Prison, but is said to have re-entered the country a short time before the Roxbury shooting.

Lorillard Spencer, World War Hero, Dies

LONDON, June 10 (INS)—Hope that the fate of Aviator Thomas Smith, who set out from Old Orchard Beach, Me., May 28, on a transatlantic hop in a tiny tourist plane could be learned with the finding of wreckage off the Welsh coast, vanished today when the debris was identified as that of a long lost French airplane.

JEAN ROGERS

BELMONT GIRL MOVIE STAR ON HONEYMOON

The pretty girl once known to her schoolmates in Belmont as Eleanor Lovegren is honeymooning somewhere on the Arizona desert today with Danny Winkler, actor's agent in Hollywood.

To millions, she is better known as Jean Rogers, movie star, and queen of the serials.

The exact whereabouts of the romantic couple was unknown — a "deep secret," as they disappeared somewhere between Hollywood and Yuma after flying to the latter place, Wednesday, for an elopement wedding.

Jean has been frequently called "the most beautiful girl in Hollywood," by no less authorities than the casting directors and movie directors who see them all. Her big blue eyes, with long dark lashes, have been raved over by more than one connoisseur of beauty.

Her romance with Winkler has been talked of in Hollywood for months, since she had previously broken an engagement with Jimmy Wallingford, radio announcer.

MURPHY ADMITS BLUNDER

CONCORD, N. H., June 10—Governor Francis P. Murphy today somewhat sheepishly admitted that the tax bill he signed a day or two ago was the wrong bill. It wasn't the one passed by the Legislature.

Grangers discovered the mistake. They say the bill passed directed that the 15 per cent tax on tobacco products be devoted to abolition of the state tax and the reduction of real estate taxation.

The bill he did sign made no allotment of the estimated 1,000,000 to be realized from the tobacco tax.

Illness Fatal To Rev. J. R. Copplestone

The Rev. John R. Copplestone, 63, superintendent of the southern division of the New Hampshire Methodist church for four years, died at Deaconess Hospital early today after an illness of several months.

A resident of Haverhill, he was reappointed last month to serve a fifth term as head of the district, which includes about 70 churches. He was a past president of the New England area council of the church and at his death, a vice-president of the New England Ministerial Association.

GEORGE PEABODY GARDNER

A score of civic, patriotic and philanthropic organizations were represented at the funeral of George Peabody Gardner, financier and philanthropist, held from the Church of the Advent. He died Tuesday at his summer home in Bourne.

The Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, bishop emeritus of the Episcopal Church of Massachusetts, officiated. Mr. Gardner had for many years been a lay leader in the church.

Each proposal must be in a sealed envelope endorsed with the name of the bidder and "Traffic Circle at West Roxbury Parkway and Centre Street, Contract 2, Landscaping and Fence Construction, West Roxbury District of Boston." Plans, specifications and other contract documents may be examined at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Parks Division, seventh floor, 20 Somerset Street, Boston, without charge and may be secured at this place upon deposit payment of $2.00. The full amount of deposit for one set of documents will be refunded to each actual bidder upon return of all documents in good condition within 15 days after the opening of bids. Other deposits will be refunded, with deductions not exceeding the actual cost of reproduction of the drawings upon return of all documents in good condition within 15 days after the opening of bids. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for the sum of $225 made payable to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts or a properly executed bid bond for the sum of $225.00 on the form prescribed. All checks or bid bonds, except those of the three low bidders, will be returned within seven (7) days after the date upon which the bids are opened. The checks or bid bonds of the three low bidders, exclusive of that of the bidder to whom the contract is awarded, will be returned within seven (7) days after the execution of the contract. The check or bid bonds of the successful bidder will be returned within three days after the execution of the contract. The project is to be constructed under the provisions of Chapter 365, Mass. Acts of 1933 as amended. The work contemplated in this proposal is located in Boston and consists of Landscaping and Fence Construction at West Roxbury Parkway. Attention is called to the fact that a schedule of minimum wage rates as established for the project by the Commission of Labor and Industries under provisions of Chapter 461 of the Acts of 1935, is annexed to the contract document. No bids may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for the receipt of bids, for at least thirty (30) days. A surety bond in an amount equal to one hundred (100) per cent of the contract price will be required. The right is reserved by the Commonwealth to reject any or all bids or to waive informalities. A proposal which includes for any unit price item a bid that is abnormally low or high may be rejected as unbalanced. The amount estimated to be available for this contract is $6500.

Cuba Financially A Refugee Nation

The recent protracted bickering by the Republic of Cuba in regard to terms under which it would admit an argosy of refugees from Nazi persecution brings to mind the fact that Cuba economically is in the position of a refugee nation.

Lacking a balanced and self-supporting national economy, Cuba exists under the protective wing of trade pacts with the United States.

The United States through a trade pact and through the exercise of quite a measure of control in the form of treaty and other rights, has had a preferential trade arrangement with Cuba.

The life blood of Cuba's economy is trade with the United States.

Even though Cuba is by nature a land of the United States, only 14 cents per dollar of Cuba's export trade is with the United States, and 86 cents per dollar goes to countries other than the United States.

Cuba's principal export is sugar which has been produced on large scale on account of the favorable tariff treatment accorded Cuban sugar in the United States.

Cuba's sugar industry has been built up on the basis of a tariff preference in the United States market. Cuba's sugar industry has been built up on the basis of a tariff preference in the United States market. Cuba's sugar industry has been built up on the basis of a tariff preference in the United States market.

GERTRUDE NIESEN: You'll have to substitute for Morton Downey at Ilon-Air Country Club in Chicago . . . Billy Rose exercised his option on Morton's services and is retaining him at the Aquacade. Rose was willing to permit Downey to leave on condition that James Melton could be secured as a replacement. When Melton expressed reluctance, Rose assured him that it would be advisable to re- work and sing four shows a day with Eleanor Holm and Johnnie Weissmuller aswam . . . "I prefer my present job," Melton replied. "I'm working for the Metropolitan Opera."

EXCEPT THAT DONALD BRIAN is in Hollywood, theater goers of earlier years could have thrilled to the presence in Boston again for the first time in 20 years – of a great musical comedy trio of stars . . . As it was, two of the three, Julia Sanderson and Joe Cawthorne, were available for night by their affectionate admirers, who remember them fondly in "The Girl From Utah," and "Sybil," at the Paddock Club. Miss Sanderson and her husband, Frank Crumit, are living in Long Meadows, Mass., (near Springfield). Comedian Joe Cawthorne and Mrs. Cawthorne have been living in Hollywood. East on a visit, the Cawthornes seized the chance to visit with the comedian's old pre war days.

JOHNNY LONGDON will be back at Sufffolk Downs this afternoon riding Sally Pass By in the $5000 added "The Betsy Ross Stakes" . . . Last Saturday Longdon hopped in from New York, and won the $7500 added Constitution Handicap with Lovely Night It was at Suffolk Downs that Longdon first attracted attention as a great rider . . . He has since gained national fame as a jockey

Dave Wilson who has had a sensational winning streak this week is picking Sally Pass By to win with Arden Lass rated as the danger.

I was aboard War Minstrel when he won last Saturday and I am going to take another $2 fiver on him today . . . War Minstrel is in The Pilgrim Handicap and will have to beat Blind Fight, Sea Motion, Clodium, Black Eagle and other speeds Thoroughbreds . . . This is a six furlongs dash while The Betsy Ross Stakes will be over a distance of five furlongs

Bees Pitchers Clicking

The Bees pitchers have started to click, and I think the club will continue to improve its position in the standing. Fette and Posedel certainly came through for Casey Stengel.

JAMES HURLEY,

Tom Earley Day

Tom Earley of Roxbury who is having his day at National League Park tomorrow, has the pitching ability and physique to become one of the great pitchers of the national pastime. I believe Earley will make good. Let Boston fans turn out and give Tom a big hand on Sunday. MISSION HILL.

Syracuse Eight Beats Wisconsin

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 10 (AP) – The Syracuse University varsity crew today defeated the Wisconsin eight by 1¾ lengths in a three-mile dual race on Onondaga Lake. The winning eight was clocked in 17:41.8.

RAGBY SHELLED

The Red Sox, who have been chasing the Yankees in circles with no success finally moved a notch higher toward the flying New Yorkers, but still remained eight games in the rear after winning a double header from the Browns in St. Louis.

It was quite a twin triumph for the Boston club, although the St. Louis team has been smacked rather mild sun for 12 losses in their last 14 starts.

The Boston team came up with a shutout pitcher when Fred Ostermueller stepped into the first engagement and came through with a single after Joe Cronin had doubled in the eighth.

Jimmy Foxx had quite an afternoon too. Double X clouted out his 10th home run in the first battle to account for two runs and put the Red Sox on the ball game with Vernon Kennedy taking the ball for St. Louis.

In the nightcap Foxx contributed his 11th home run which played a prominent part in a 17-hit attack and an 18-7 triumph.

Order Arrest Of Derringer

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—The record of Paul Derringer, Cincinnati N. L. pitcher, for alleged failure to pay a judgment of $8170, was ordered today by Supreme Court Justice Ernest E. La Hammer

BYERS, CASWELL FAVORED IN SAMOSET CANOE RACE

Close to 50 canoeists—New England's finest—will face the starting gun in the 13th annual 26-mile canoe marathon sponsored by the Samoset Canoe Club of West Roxbury tomorrow.

Starting promptly at noon, at a point adjacent to the Poor Farm Bridge in Medfield, these paddlers start the first leg of their long grind that will take them through a number of towns through which the winding Charles River flows before they reach the finish line at Spring Street Bridge in West Roxbury.

Placed as favorites are George Byers of the Samosets and Glen Caswell of Needham. Byers won the eight-mile Marathon at Waltham on Memorial Day while Caswell finished fourth.

Walter Hasenfus, a former Olympian, and Leo Hickey, both of Needham, also have a chance of leading the pack home.

Other leading contenders are George Hargreaves, Fred Richenburg, Conrad Albrecht, Al Kropoff, all of the sponsoring club, and Bernard Schwenderman of the Crescent Club.

Starting at 2 o'clock, contestants from many canoe clubs will furnish thrills as they participate in a program of aquatic events at the finish line.

Walter Hasenfus of Needham Canoe Club, who will compete in the 13th annual 26-mile canoe Marathon on Charles River tomorrow afternoon. Member of the 1936 Olympic team and an experienced paddler, he has an excellent chance of winning this gruelling grind. He's a cousin of Olive Hasenfus, herself a two-time Olympic competitor.

Danno to Meet Dynamite Gus

Dan O'Mahony, the big Irish boy who soared to the world's heavyweight wrestling championship returns to Boston when he battles Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg, likewise a former champion, in one of the all-star bouts of a mat tournament at the Boston Garden, Thursday night, June 22.

A portion of the receipts will be given to the Palestine Athletic Committee, which is headed by Cecil R. Gordon. The money will be used to aid several worthy Palestinian causes.

Harris Protests Geisel's Ruling

CLEVELAND, June 10 (AP)—Manager Stanley Harris of Washington said today he had protested to William Harridge, president of the American League, a decision of Umpire Harry Geisel on a play which led to a Cleveland victory over the Senators yesterday.

Harris contended Jimmy Webb, Tribe shortstop, ran six feet out of the base line in the sixth inning to avoid being tagged at third by Buddy Lewis. Webb went on to score the first of three unearned runs that inning which led Cleveland to a 7-5 victory.

Polo Lineups Same for Second Game in Series

NEW YORK, June 10 (INS)—All the in-again-out-again ramifications of the international polo series ended today with the final declaration that the United States and Great Britain will stand pat on their teams for the second and possibly deciding match of the series for the Westchester Cup tomorrow at Westbury, L. I.

This takes a great burden off the minds of the palpitating public, which has been reading one day that Cecil Smith will play and the next that he won't, and one day that Aidan Roark won't play and the next that he will.

As regards (A) Smith: He won't; (B) Roark, he will. The expected 30,000 at International Field will therefore view precisely the same set of warriors who figured in America's victory over the British by the margin of 11 to 7 last Sunday. Lord Cowdray announced today that his lineup, from front to back, will be Bob Skene, Roark, Gerald Balding and Eric Tyrell-Martin.

Not Once, But Thrice

Mr. Average Golfer is overjoyed if he can score one—just one—hole-in-one in his life-time.

But William B. Durant, Jr., today passed off lightly the fact he had scored his third ace in as many years.

Durant made the hole-in-one on the 159-yard, par three, 15th hole of Oakley Country Club, using a No. 8 iron.

Thompson Fans 7, Hits Homer, Loses

Boston Park League pennant races ended the fifth week of the 1939 drive last night with two games in which the 1938 champion St. Augustine Club was edged in the final frame at Fallon Field by Holy Namer Eddie Kallenberg's ringing double scoring Stone, enabling the Namers to win, 3 to 2, and at American Legion Park in East Boston, where the Star of the Sea Club edged the first-place Dick Casey outfit, 5 to 3.

Jack Thompson, St. Augustine ace hurler, struck out seven and turned in a pitching display which will be a Fallon Field legend.

Each team scored once in the first inning, and Holy Name shoved across another in the third.

Coming to bat in the fourth after striking out two men with the bases loaded, Thompson smashed Grimley's first toss into deep right for a home run tying up the ball game at two-all until the seventh when Kallenberg's drive broke up the game.

Kelly, on the hill for Star of the Sea, clamped down on the Caseys allowing only four hits and holding the visitors hitless and scoreless for four frames until Musil, member of the Casey hurling corps and playing right field last night, poled out a double scoring Dever.

Roslindale ended the week's all in first place in the East division and Casey Club occupying the deferred spot in the West with Star of the Sea and the Murphy Club of Brighton following.

In back of Roslindale in the East standings, St. Augustine and St. Alphonsus are tied with eight wins and one tie for 17 points.

MISS WATERHOUSE WINS

INDIANS WIN ON FOUR HITS

NEW YORK, June 10 (INS)—Claude Passeau walked pinch-hitter Bob Seeds with bases loaded in the 10th inning to force in the run which gave the Giants a 4 to 3 triumph over the Cubs and dropped the Chicagoans to a tie for fourth with Pittsburgh in the National League.

Passeau's lack of control also enabled the Giants to send the game into overtime, for he passed a pinch-hitter in the eight inning to force across the tying tally when he relieved Larry French in the eighth.

Castleman, who succeeded Lohrman and Coffman in the box for the Giants, was the winning hurler. Passeau was charged with the defeat.

The Giants filled the sacks in the 10th when Ott singled, Bonura reached base on Russell's error and Chiozza was purposely walked.

CLEVELAND, June 10 (INS)—A rousing two-run rally in the ninth inning brought the Indians a 3 to 2 triumph over the Washington Senators despite the fact that Cleveland got only four hits.

Hal Trosky walloped a homer to tie the score at 2-all after the tribe had gone into the ninth inning with but a single hit off Southpaw Ken Chase.

HAL TROSKY

Pytlak batted for Brosca who had replaced Bobby Feller in the eighth, and singled to score Grimes with the decisive run. A double by Grimes in the fifth had counted Cleveland's earlier run.

Brosca was credited with the victory. The Senators made five hits all told, getting both their tallies in the first inning.

NEW YORK, June 10 (INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers jumped into third place in the National League when they rallied to turn back the St. Louis Cardinals, 7 to 4.

Brooklyn moved ahead of the Chicago Cubs, who lost to the Giants, and the Pittsburgh Pirates, who were beaten by the Boston Bees.

The Dodgers clinched the game with four runs on five hits in the seventh inning off Curt Davis who followed Warneke and Bowman to the mound for the Cards.

Phelps with four straight hits—a double and three singles—and Koy with two doubles and a single were the leading hitters for Brooklyn.

Hutchinson, second of three Dodger pitchers, was credited with the victory.

Doeg, Fishback In N. E. Net Final

HARTFORD, Conn., June 10 (AP)—Johnny Doeg, former national champion, opposed Joe Fishback, national indoor junior champ, with the New England tennis singles crown as the inducement.

Prior to this match, Argyll Rice of Hartford, state champion, met Baba Madden of Jamaica Plain, Mass., for the women's singles title.

Doubles finals also were on the program, Doeg and Art Prochaska of Hartford playing Hobey Hyde and John Gow, a local combination.

JOSEPH CAWTHORNE, Julia Sanderson, ex-Governor Joseph B. Ely, Frank Crumit and Mrs. Joseph Cawthorne, left to right, caught by the photographer yesterday at Suffolk Downs as they endeavored to select a winner. Miss Sanderson in private life is the wife of Frank Crumit and the pair are well known by local radio and stage audiences.

Sox Pick Up Game on Yanks | Shore Will Pilot Springfield Six

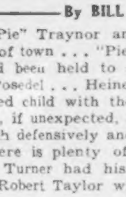
By BILL GRIMES

Manager "Pie" Traynor and his Pittsburgh Pirates were glad to get out of town . . . "Pie" was singing the blues because his charges had been held to six hits in two games by Lou Fette and Bill Posedel . . . Heine Majeski, the Staten Island boy, is the fair-haired child with the Bees enthusiasts . . . He has been a pleasant, if unexpected, surprise to the followers of the Stongeleers, both defensively and offensively . . . And, the fans now realize there is plenty of grey matter between Heine's ears . . . Jim Turner had his nose set this morning. He'll probably be a Robert Taylor within a few days . . .

The Red Sox picked up a full game on the Yankees by taking both games of their twin bill with the Browns . . . A fine piece of relief pitching on the part of Fritz Ostermueller was responsible for the Sox taking the first game, not to mention keeping Jim Bagby's record at .500 . . . The Browns whistled four hits for three runs off Bagby's offerings in the first stanza but "Ostie" knocked them back on their heels, and the Red Sox took a 4 to 3 decision . . . The second game was a breeze for Jack Wilson for his mates gave him a 12 run lead after three innings . . . In the first inning of the second game, Tommy Carey singled twice . . . Jimmy Foxx made a homer in each game.



Fritz Ostermueller

"Babe" Siebert will manage Les Canadiens next season . . . He has earned his promotion by tending strictly to his knitting since he joined the Flying Frenchmen . . . Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Winchester, is still very much in the fight for the U. S. Open title . . . There is no more ardent Mrs. Beard booster than Arthur Hunt, a former New England Seniors' champion . . . Arthur has followed Mrs. Beard since the first day that the state champion played at the old Albemarle Golf Club . . . The Father and Daughter tournament which will be sponsored by the Weston Golf Club next Thursday, should draw an exceptionally large entry . . . A year ago, George and Betty Cooper, Winchester, won the Father and Daughter after a playoff against J. F. Peterson and Mrs. Eleanor Peterson Finlayson . . . Dr. and Martha Wisfell, Wellesley, took the net honors.

Eddie Shore definitely will manage the Springfield Indians next season . . . Just a few days ago, Eddie made a $20,000 deposit in a Springfield bank . . . Whether he has that like of mine I wouldn't know but it was Eddie that slipped the 20 Gs through the grill to rece-ive-ing teller . . . Pres. William Alexander Hamilton and his Newspaper Golf Association will work out at the Blue Hill Country Club on Monday . . . There were 108 entries competing in the 10th annual state YMCA track and field championships today at the Lynn Stadium . . . The Hub has a well balanced team and was favored to take the title but was figured to receive plenty of competition from Lynn, Lawrence, Newton, Brockton and Malden.

Cadet Harry A. Stella received the most valuable football player award at West Point . . . Brice S. Evans, the well known southpaw golfer, is now a grandpappy . . . Brice S. Evans, 3d, 8½ pounds, put in his appearance recently at Toronto, where his father, Brice S., Jr., was graduated from the University of Toronto Law School, last week . . . The mother, who was Daphne Allen, of Calgary, Alberta, is doing fine . . . Papa Brice and the grandpappy are in the "pink."

For reasons best known to himself, Pres. Bob Quinn refuses to allow the baseball scribes to tell the public who controls the Bees . . . A statement from Bob Quinn would be most enlightening to the fans . . .

Rosamond Vaney gained her chances of reaching today's W. G. A. finals by playing Mrs. John Grew's game . . . She has been playing competitive golf too long to make such an error . . . Many athletes have failed to measure up to expectation by being too fine when they enter a championship . . . Mrs. H. Warren Beard is the exception . . . A year ago, she was not playing well when she started to play in the state championship at Belmont, and she followed the same system this week at Weston . . . And, on both occasions, she primed her game while battling to reach the finals . . . Without a doubt, Mrs. Beard is the best golfer in the ranks of the W. G. A. . . . It looks as if the Women's Eastern Championship scheduled for Charles River next week will be a flop . . . The Massachusetts and Metropolitan championship wind up today, and the New Yorkers are not warming up to another grind next week.

Tom Earley To Be Honored

far their defense has been nothing to write home about.

They appear to be still feeling the effects of the slaughtering they suffered at the hands of the Yanks in the last World Series.

EARLEY DAY TWIN BILL

At any rate, they're down to the .500 mark, eight games below the roof and only three games ahead of our seventh-place but steadily improving Bees.

There are some nice fellows among the Windy City crew.

Manager-Catcher "Gabby" Hartnett, for instance. The colorful pride of Millville, with his omnipresent smile, is the most popular hostile athlete to visit the Hive.

And Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, once the greatest pitcher of 'em all and again a pretty fair country chucker after having been a $185,000 "lemon" last year.

Local fans weren't given an opportunity to watch "Diz" in action on the Cubs first visit here this spring.

Tomorrow they'll get to see him. He's to start one game of the Tom Earley Day double header.

There's also a fellow on the Cubs named Dick Bartell, who plays shortstop when his wild base-running isn't leaving the opposing team short-handed.

Thousands of our better citizens are going to attend these Bees-Cubs games simply because of Mr. Bartell. But not to cheer him.

Mr. Bartell, you'll surely recall if you're a Swarm follower, is the young man who more than anybody else in the league is responsible for the nose-dive the Stengelmen took from second down to seventh place a few weeks back.

POSSEDEL DANDY

He is wise, who, sliding into second base the last time the Cubs were at the Hive a month ago, threw a football block at Tony Cuccinello, causing our second-sacker to suffer a knee injury which has kept him on the shelf from that day to this, and which will prevent him returning to action for another fortnight or more.

The Boston public hasn't forgotten, as Bartell will discover.

The Bees haven't forgotten or forgiven, either.

They're determined Dick will get no more of them.

But they aren't bent on any reprisals except victories over the Cubs.

Tom Early, of course, will pitch one of the games tomorrow.

All Roxbury is turning out to honor its favorite son, who gained his first fame at Mission high, and nothing would please his neighbors more than to see him pitted against Dean.

Stengel, though, won't promise that. He may . . . as Danny MacFayden against "Diz."

MAY FIGHT WINNER

NEW YORK, June 10 (INS)—Ray Carlen, manager of Lou Nova, today was awaiting a reply to his ultimatum that his fighter be given a crack at the winner of the Joe Louis-Tony Galento championship heavyweight bout.

Silent Witness Wilson's Horse

By DAVE WILSON

(Selections for fast track)

BEST BET—SILENT WITNESS, 4TH RACE

The Betsy Ross Stakes, $5000 added event exclusively for juvenile fillies, is the brightest spot on a glittering card this afternoon at Suffolk Downs.

Nine lassies accepted the issue overnight. Sally Pass By, "the people's choice," is our selection.

This miss raced five panels in :59.60 the other day to beat Jolly Tar out of the finest colts on the grounds.

For the day's safest wager, string along with C. H. (Tobe) Trotter's Silent Witness, a courageous second to Lovely Night in last Saturday's Constitutional.

This classy colt is picking up nine additional pounds, but only faces a field of slightly better-than-average three-year olds. He looms as the easiest winner on the card.

FIRST RACE

Highpool, Drexel, Mama's Boy

Along lines of improvement, HIGHPOOL looks good as anything in the opener, a wide-open race. He displayed smart improvement in his most recent start to place to Bow Tip. DREEL, winner of two straight races, looms all over the main danger. MAMA'S BOY is descending the claiming ladder.

SECOND RACE

Glorious Time, Lika That, Kantaka

GLORIOUS TIME, a stunning looking daughter of Grand Time, showed to advantage while receiving tightners in an allowance number the other day. Must rate her tops over this field of non-winners. LIKA THAT gets a big figure on her recent second to Philosopher. KANTAKA was leading Sculptress in her most recent race, but bore out badly in the late stages to wind up a very distant third.

THIRD RACE

Harp Weaver, Panther Creek, High Velocity

FOURTH RACE

Silent Witness, Topee, Loveday

SILENT WITNESS stands out all by his lonesome in this affair. TOPEE, LOVEDAY, PETER ARGO and SAVITAR were all in the same race the other day. They rate as named under the weight arrangements.

FIFTH RACE

War Minstrel, Blind Eagle

Slow Motion

WAR MINSTREL was beaten only a length by Ariel Toy in 1.11 the other day. He sheds two pounds off that splendid endeavor and the speed chart accords him a whole skyfull of stars. His stablemate, BLIND EAGLE, also gets a high figure on a recent route victory, and he may be along in time to snare the whole pot. SLOW MOTION CLODION, and BATTLE JACK figure pretty alike under the weight arrangements.

SIXTH RACE

Sally Pass By, Arden Lass, Sculptress

ARDEN LASS shapes up as SALLY PASS BY's main rival. This filly had fleet Rosebloom straight as a string in her final essay at Delaware. SCULPTRESS doesn't figure with the top pair, but she shapes up well as anything in the fight for show honors.

SEVENTH RACE

Boston Pal, Listaro, Proph

BOSTON PAL, winner of three straight races, is moving up the class ladder, but gets a big enough figure to win. LISTARO has won three races in a row and is only a jump or two behind the top selection in the figures. PROPH is shedding 13 pounds in actual weight off his recent second to She's Right.

EIGHT RACE

Moon Harvest, Great Blaze, Traggat

Only an eyelash separates MOON HARVEST and GREAT BLAZE in the nightcap with TRAGGAT only a jump away. I'm going to temp fate by rating them as named.
